BG-Bulgaria: Media Complaints Council Established

On 1 April 2005 the major Bulgarian newspapers, public and private broadcasters, as well as private and public news agencies gathered to establish a joint Media Complaints Council to oversee the implementation of the Code of Ethics (see IRIS 2005-1: 9). The legal form of this new organisation will be a foundation with a board of seven persons: four of them representing the employers’ organizations (ABBRO and UPB), and the other three representing journalists’ organizations. To ensure that decisions are not taken with respect to unilateral interests, the voting majority required will be a qualified majority, and for some cases unanimous agreements will be sought.

Two commissions will be formed immediately: a press commission and an electronic media commission, each consisting of 12 members. The composition of the commissions will be as follows: members will be 4 representatives of employers, nominated by the UPB and ABBRO respectively for each of the commissions, 4 representatives of the journalists, nominated by special national assemblies of journalists from print and electronic media respectively, and 4 persons, involved in human rights, media and other issues of public interest selected in a complex procedure. Two of them will be proposed by the employers’ organisations and approved by the journalists, and the other two vice-versa.

The start-up costs of the Council will be covered by the PHARE programme of the European Union. The Council should be fully operational by September 2005.

Antoaneta Arsova

Broadcasting Council of the Czech Republic

The objective of IRIS is to publish information on legal and law-related policy developments that are relevant to the European audiovisual sector. Despite our efforts to ensure the accuracy of the content, the ultimate responsibility for the truthfulness of the facts on which we report is with the authors of the articles. Any opinions expressed in the articles are personal and should in no way be interpreted as representing the views of any organisations represented in its editorial board.

© European Audiovisual Observatory, Strasbour (France)